

Protest Matters! #AAA2017 Installation and Virtual Museum

Siobhán McGuirk
October, 2017

Protest Matters! is an interactive temporary museum of protest objects that will run in conjunction with the AAA meetings in Washington DC next month. The project invites academics, activists, and local community members to come together and consider the dynamic relationships that exist between art and activism, feelings and things, politics and materiality, and creativity and community, all in the context of social justice action.

We invite you to contribute objects to display, in DC or virtually. Visit our website to learn more. You can also find us on Facebook.

Virtual Museum

Items already uploaded to the Protest Matters! Virtual Museum include the following, shared with Allegra Lab readers — who are invited to contribute their own objects to the collection:

Item #1: "Pride = Protest" sign. Washington, DC.

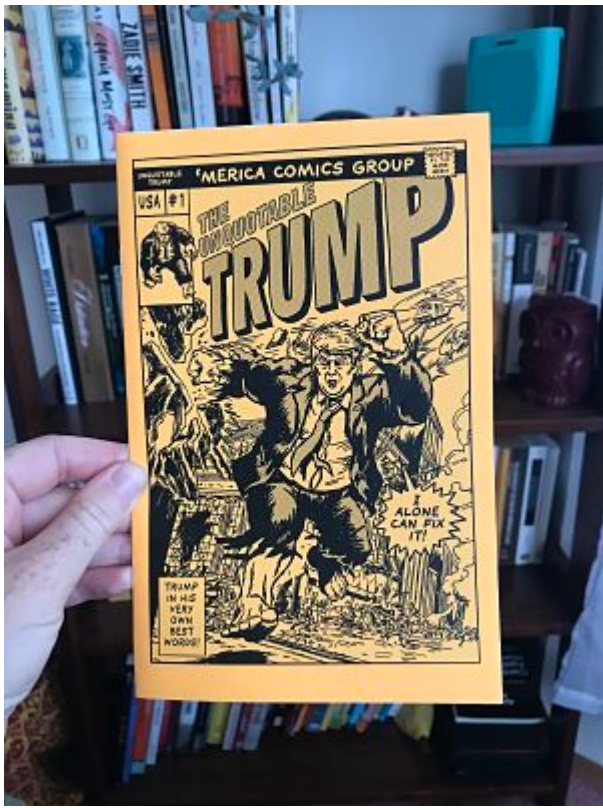

Inauguration Day Read-In
Of Foucault's
Society Must Be Defended
11th Lecture

Friday, January 20th
12:00 pm
Lower Level of Hicks

[PDF of the reading is available on the ANSO department
website under "Events"]

Item #2: "Anthropology Read In" poster. Kalamazoo, MI.

Item #3: "The Unquotable Trump" zine. San Francisco, CA.

Item #4: "mi existir es resistir" tee. Washington, DC.